WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 6, 1899.

What is the meaning of the small vote in yesterday's democratic primary? Was it lethargy or anti-Goebelism?

Is this a straw? The chairman of the Goebel Campaign club and another of the party's loudest advocates were defeated in yesterday's democratic primary.

Pennsylvania already has one delegate to the next national Republican convention. He was chosen today by a district convention and is pledged to Mr. McKinley.

Messrs. Wat Hardin and Wm. J. Stone are conspicuous by their absence from the democratic caucus. They left one trap set by the Wiley Kenton stateman, but they won't be caught again.

Alleged is still a democratic power in Illinois no matter what others may say. He is a bigger man than Harrison and has Bryan at a disadvantage and will defeat the mayor of Chicago when he bids up for vice president, as he will surely do. The country will yet again hear from Alleged.

The Louisville Courier-Journal has almost ceased to say anything about Goebel and the contest of the boss. Occasionally it prints some clippings from its exchanges, taking such not as there are not 500 Brownites in this congressional district for samples as to how the state is going to vote. The old files of the C.-J. prove it was ever just as unreasonable as it is now in every canvass it got into, welcomed or unwelcomed.

Labor wants the Dreyfus court martial to summon some of the foreign attaches accused of trafficking with his client to secure French government secrets. Labor is getting closer to the prosecution but by any and if he is not watched he will have several governments with their fists right under France's nose or he will have his client set free. He clearly means to leave none of the facts relative to the case left uncovered.

Alleged does not use language any too strong when he says if fraud, trickery, thuggism and crime are to triumph in Kentucky. "It means they will have a comparatively easy road to travel in other sections of the union; and it means that political conventions instead of being run by the people and carrying out the policy and will of the people, will be run by men who betray the people and will be controlled by those interests that plunder the country."

McLean is claiming the colored vote in Ohio and says he intends to secure it by any means, which is a point may be he is of assuming it is purchasable. Goebel has said he'd like to see a negro vote for every Democrat who bolts, and he is plainer in his intention that he can buy these votes. The ball-doing leaders of Ohio and Kentucky only show their colors in these declarations and cast no reflections on the colored voters of their states. But when November comes they will find the error of their alander, for they will be short many Democratic voters and will have bought no colored vote.

If the Owensboro Messenger speaks authoritatively, and its columns read like it is very close to the throne, then Mr. Goebel is not only going to hold his personal critics to answer as man to man but will also make many of these prove in the courts some of the alleged base things they have said of him. The Messenger, after saying these personal attacks upon Mr. Goebel ignore his election by an incorrect vote, for which credit instead of personal attacks and law suits it seems should be given, it particularly says that the Louisville Post and the Dispatch, whom the Messenger does as the unbecomable soundbites of the Louisville papers, are to be stood

Observations

...at Random.

Some people who doubtless did not realize the rudeness of what they did, kept up a continual conversation in the back of the house, during the Gilbert-Smith concert last night, much to the annoyance of those who cared to enjoy the music.

The Gospel wagon, some of the utterly prisoners in the lockup and one or two of the councilmen came near breaking up the meeting of the city council last night. That session was a warm member.

The city council ought to cease its disgusting dilly dallying with the pumping station of the sewerage. For over a year it has been "monkeying" around the expression but it is the only one thought of at present.

It was evident a year ago that Contractor Lind White did not intend to build the station, as per contract, and since then the council has done nothing but refer the matter back and forth to the council committees. Now it has ordered bids, and proposes to let the city herself build the station. It is probable, and very consistent with the action of the past, that when the bids are all in, they will all be rejected.

The council is waiting for the pumping station to build itself.

Tonight the Goebel men in this section will have a chance to fight. The senator will be here, and there will be many present, no doubt to see this reputed demagogue, who has done nothing but stolen nominations from his fellow Democrats, and carried a dirt knife in respectable company.

It is also probable that there will be a few anti-Goebel men present to make themselves known, and Mayor Lang will have a squad of extra police officers present to preserve peace, and see that his idol from Kenton county does not get hurt.

The practice of throwing watermelon rinds and such refuse on the sidewalks is one that is not tolerated any where in particular except down about the foot of Broadway, where some of the outcrops "joint" in the avenue are sufficient to make one feel sea sick while merely passing, without the various other things found in the vicinity.

The gentlemen who have to work in that section are very indignant about what is allowed by the sanitary officers, or whose ever fault it is, as the gutters there are always reeking with filth, and can hardly be passed. But it is something similar to sweeping dust into the gutter. The mayor proposes and the colored porter disposes.

PRAYED FOR RELIEF.
TOMPKINSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 6.—Miss Colla Williams, of near Forest Springs, Allen county, has been confined in her room for over two years, and for several months to her bed. Her physicians had given up all hopes of her recovery. Last Tuesday she exerted all the power within her to roll off the bed to her knees, praying God to heal her affliction and restore her to health. Then the thought came to her of a neighbor's family whom she bitterly hated. She got up, walked to the neighbor's home, barefooted, and made apologies for her feelings against them. After this she walked a distance of three or four miles, and there was not a mark or scratch on her feet when she returned home. She claims to be divinely healed and cured of every ailment. She had not taken a step and had suffered great pain for many months.

Mrs. Hays went down Saturday on a visit to her father, who had been ill but a few days when death overtook him. The many friends of the family here will regret to learn of Mr. Elder's unexpected death.

IDOLIZED BY HIS PEOPLE.

Oom Paul the Man of the Hour and Unique Figure in History.

Paul Kruger, president of the South African Republic, is the man of the hour, and his ultimatum to haughty England will force that great nation to back down or into war with the sturdy little Transvaal, numbering less than 75,000 Boers. Oom Paul, as everybody calls him, is a unique figure in history. Bismarck called him the greatest natural diplomat he had ever met. Although a dictator he lives in Democratic simplicity in his own house in Pretoria. He rises at break of day, and after his cup of coffee and daily Bible reading, steps out upon the porch to greet his regular morning audience, which begins to accumulate before sun up. He goes to the government buildings at 9, attended by a bodyguard of six armed policemen. Returning at 4, he sits on the veranda, smoking his old wooden pipe. That pipe short of fuel, he has Kruger's inseparable companion, and in it he invariably smokes the common weed of the Transvaal. His diet is of the simplest kind. His only beverage is coffee, and of this he drinks a great deal. He is no great meat eater, but prefers the product of the fields. "When I am thirsty I drink coffee and smoke; when I am thinking I smoke and drink coffee," he says.

When he left the Transvaal for his first visit to London he wore the regulation garb of the South African farmer, a low-crowned hat, short jacket and shoes of untanned leather. Upon his return he astonished his people by appearing in a high hat, long black frock coat and patent leather shoes. His religious creed is answered by simple, whatever God sends is right and must be endured without a murmur.

In 1894 there was a locust plague in the Transvaal. He would not let them be destroyed. If a crime is committed Oom Paul sends for the chief of police. If it is murder Kruger allows the police five days to capture the murderer; three days to find a homestead, and one day to apprehend a petty offender. If the police fail to bring the offenders in these given periods Kruger tells them he has no use for them, and they need not return.

Many stories are told of his physical strength. In young manhood he saved his sister's life by strangling a panther, and held a wild buffalo's head under water until the animal drowned. He once amputated his own finger after having cut with an accident, once he carried a burro home for a floor who couldn't get the animal to go with him. He refuses to talk English. He is the hero of the Transvaal, and a picturesque character in every way.

All American soldiers who fought in the Mexican war are entitled to pension, but only 8204 remain on the list. The entire pension list decreased several thousand last year. But one veteran of 1812 survives, and he is 89.

LOST—Somewhere on Washington street near Hiderman's grocery, or on Washington, Fourth or Court street coming down into the city, a solid gold watch, closed case, without watch chain, having a picture in the case. Liberal reward will be paid for return of the watch to this office.

THE DOLLAR QUESTION.

One way to make dollars is to work for them. Another way to make dollars is to have your dollars work for you. Dollars placed with the Equitable Investment company will make you many more dollars. Monthly redemptions after six payments. Two dollars for every one invested may be yours. Your money with 8 per cent interest guaranteed.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of colored voters at the hall corner Seventh and Adams streets Thursday night at 7:30 for the purpose of organizing a Republican club. All are invited. Some good speeches will be made. By order of committee.

LOCAL LINES.

Mrs. Stewart and Williamson yesterday extracted a piece of wood from the breast of Wm. Everts, a blacksmith who had carried the steel for over a year in his body. It became imbedded there at Cairo.

—Mr. J. Lawrence Allbrook, aged 84, died near Southland of general debility Monday.

—Mrs. J. S. Scott, of Tennessee street, complained to officer Smith yesterday afternoon that a man whom she had given a meal returned and stole her pocket book containing a sum of money. The man could not be found.

—The Illinois Central has one of the largest air compressors in the state. It keeps a supply of air for use in all the shops here.

—Mr. Jerry Richards, aged 83, died at his home in Livingston county, on the 21st inst., a day or two ago, leaving a wife and several children. He was a pioneer farmer.

—Messrs. Breckenridge and Pettit came in from Murray last night and went to Mayfield this morning to speak.

—The Goebbles defeated in yesterday's Democratic primary should get "he back" to tell them what did it. There was a straw vote somewhere around.

—What a vote was cast in yesterday's primary. Less than 900 at the outset in a town with 2000 Democratic voters.

—Michael Haffey, who has been ill at the city hospital for sometime past, is reported better by Stewart McKinney.

—Mrs. Malone, mother of one of the La Belle managers, who was bitten by a bear, is reported not so well today.

—Will Terry, colored, aged 43 years, died yesterday at his home, 1125 Flour street, of leukemia. He was a shoemaker and was well known. The funeral took place this morning at 10 o'clock under the auspices of the Maxon fraternity. The interment was at Oak Grove cemetery.

—All members of Western Kentucky Lodge No. 2841 are requested to meet at Oak Grove Hall tonight as Bro. Harry Short is dead.

—Mr. Duffel, who suffered yesterday by the fire at the Rock farm, lost very near all of his household goods and clothing. He had $300 insurance on his effects. The owner of the property is out of the city and Mr. Duffel will await their return before deciding what to do. He is occupying temporarily a small house on the place, desiring to be near his crops.

—One of the amusing things reported by the election officers is that Capt. J. R. Smith, a life long Republican, yesterday received one vote for school trustee, in the Democratic primary on the South Side of the river house. Capt. Smith doubtless appreciates the honor, although he was not running on that ticket.

—There has been much talk on the streets today about an unseen hand getting in its work in yesterday's primary. In some quarters it was freely said that some of the defeated went down under the skilled maneuvering of one of those persons who had an ax to grind. That will tell and then the people may rise and do the believing act another time.

—The new council will get in office in time to give the city one more chance to get into the second class of cities. Will the board do this much for the city?

—The heated spell is certainly causing much sickness among the people. They should be very cautious of the sun, lead drinks and over eating of garden truck.

—The Mechanicsburg M. E. Sunday school will go to the lower Cold Springs tomorrow for a picnic and outing.

—Exhorter Chapter No. 21, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold their stated meeting at 7:30 o'clock in Masonic Hall. All members requested to be present.

The Bob Dunley will leave for Evansville this evening.

The Mary E. arrived last night from tradewater with 5,000 bushels of coal. She hung up on the foot of Cumberland Island bar for 24 hours.

The Peters Lee could not get over the city bar. She will lay up at Mayfield and there is a rise in the Ohio sufficient to let her over.

This weather is terrible on working people who have to work where they are exposed to the sun.

The City of Sheffield will arrive this evening from St. Louis and lay up here until better water in the Tennessee.

The Chattanooga passed inspection yesterday, and received first class papers.

The J. R. Richardson left for Cairo this morning with a good trip of passengers.

Captain Beatty has secured the services of the Monie Bauer and Eugene Cooper to handle ties for him and would like to get two more larger boats.

The City of Paducah passed Johnsonville at 7 o'clock this morning. She is due early tonight for St. Louis.

Captain Louis Pell, in command of the U. S. steamer Lookout, came down from Tennessee toward this morning after fuel, and left shortly after cooling on return trip.

Young Taylor got bent yesterday for school trustee. Young wasn't running. It was a fellow who looked like him.

Captain Bob Broadfoot took command of the Mary E. this morning in place of Captain Anan Price, who had to stop off to attend a trial before the inspectors of hulls and boilers which took place today.

Don't forget the excursion to Cairo next Sunday on the J. R. Richardson. "You'll never miss the water 'till the well runs dry," once a very popular song, and quite suggestive to all those interested in river matters at the present time.

Reidenbach cigars are sold by Ed Gibson, Nelson Soule, Dietzel & Gray and Legummarino.
